

DSP9220 Resource Management Software

▲ DSP9220

Description

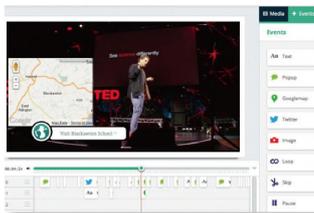

DSPPA Educational Resources Cloud Platform to display and share the video resources through the display mode of the national Open Class platform, through the front-end recording and broadcasting classroom for the collection of educational resources, realize the resource integration application on the platform. The educational resources cloud platform is equipped with the basic management function, the micro-course application, the network teaching and research application function module, omni-directional promotion education fair development in the region.

Features

User rights management

Support user account initialization, user rights management, user organization and management, user role category management. User can modify account name, e-mail, name, gender, contact information, account password, custom avatar and other information.

Online editing

Can operate video files on the platform page for cutting, merging, output and other operations, easy to use, no need to use third-party software, easy to realize online video processing operations.

Teacher column

In the personal studio, the teacher can publish the results of the individual teaching and research results, to realize the first time teaching and research results show, so as to promote the development of innovative ability of teachers to promote teaching and research to explore the sharing and exchange. Teachers can upload their own quality teaching video and operate video management, and can upload their own teaching courseware for publishing and management.

SNS community function

Can be one key concern of teachers, each login can see the latest developments, but also the video on the platform to share one key to the WeChat, QQ space, Sina weibo and other social space for the social circle of teachers, students, experts, leadership sharing concept to share.

Large-scale live broadcast

The system supports more than 200 live recording of the live classroom and live broadcast list selection, support > 2000 channels simultaneous broadcast and on-demand viewing

Abundant subject resources

Platform supports the subject resource file upload and download, and the subject resource file types include documents, pictures, video, audio, etc., also can be read online.

Mass production

Cloud platform with virtual slicing function, without destroying the integrity of the original video, cut video clips can be free to download; complete extraction of classroom essence, easy to create wonderful micro class. Support multiple keyword entry, and the original video after the slice can still be completely retained, without destroying the original video material structure.

Unified management

Support the front-end recording and broadcasting host centralized management, unified management platform for the network within a number of recording and broadcasting host centralized management. The management through the IE web page to realize including front-end recording and broadcasting system intervention, delete, information modification, recording mode selection / on / stop, live right, shutdown and other operations.

Network teaching and research

When watching the video, can operate online rating and statistical operations, easy to realize expert reviews, teachers and students exchange, communication between students and teachers, while the results of the score statistics and excel table export. The system can operate specific score items, score template management, and different types of video can be set to different scoring content.